OVC seeks to improve responses to families impacted by violent crime by building or enhancing relationships with membership organizations that represent funeral directors, cremation and burial service professionals, medical examiners/coroners, or other organizations whose members may come into contact with the surviving family members or loved ones of homicide victims.
OVC hopes to build relationships with national membership organizations that support funeral directors, and cremation and burial services professionals, medical examiners/coroners, or other professional organizations whose members may come into contact with the surviving family members or loved ones of homicide victims.

Areas for delivering TTA include, but are not limited to:

- providing trauma-informed responses,
- providing grief counseling or referring survivors for grief counseling,
- preparing for a mass violence response,
- establishing relationships and conducting resource mapping to provide referrals, and
- developing designated trauma-informed, victim-centered areas for information delivery or identification.
Goals

The project’s goals are to:

• expand professional organization members’ knowledge and understanding of crime victim issues and what it means to be trauma-informed and trauma-sensitive; and

• encourage constituents who may come into contact with family members of homicide victims in their work to integrate this information into their daily practices.
Objectives

• Conduct an assessment of their membership to determine their exiting knowledge and capacity related to crime victimization and trauma-informed delivery of services to survivors of homicide victims.

• Based on the assessment, provide free TTA, conference support, regional forums, and resource development to their memberships.

• Identify and promote promising practices and model policies in delivering trauma-informed services to family members of homicide victims that could be integrated into their practices.

• Equip the membership organizations with the resources and knowledge necessary to improve the delivery of crime victim compensation and assistance information to neighborhoods experiencing high levels of violent crime.
Deliverables

- Best practice training or seminars at national, regional, or state conferences to increase professionals’/members’ understanding
- Training or awareness programs
- Development of a communication and dissemination plan
- A forum, event, or media piece designed to increase understanding and awareness of the organizations’ national audience about issues related to victimization and the impact of crime on victims, their families, and the community
