South Dakota subgrantee agencies have worked with the media to highlight the available services to victims and various incidents that have happened.
Describe any coordinated responses/services for assisting crime victims during the reporting period.

Responses from our subgrantees - We continue to network with other non-profits and other public and private entities, all the while trying to think of new ways to coordinate and enhance aid to victims. Our local U.W. chapter hosts quarterly meetings of the local 36 agencies they fund. These meetings are ALWAYS informative. At each meeting, all agencies share newsworthy information. This quarter we also attended an open house for a new emergency homeless shelter for females suffering with mental health issues. We have pamphlets and posters that are posted around the community.

Please discuss the major issues in your state that either assist or prevent victims from receiving assistance during the reporting period.

Responses from our subgrantees - I think we have stated this in the past but one of the issues we see in our area is victims seeking our services suffering with their own drug(including prescription meds) and alcohol addictions. Also, calls locally are down but individuals from other states are calling for services.

Please describe ways that your agency promoted the coordination of public and private efforts within the community to help crime victims during the reporting period.

Responses from our subgrantees - WAVI worked with the following: Pennington County Sheriff's Office, State's Attorney's Office and Victims' Assistance, SA Response Coordinator with EAFB, SD National Guard SA Program Coordinator, SA Response Team at Regional Health, RCPD and Box Elder PD, BIA Victim Advocate, Western SD Child Protection Team, the BH Center for Equality and the Cornerstone Rescue Mission. WAVI is a member of the Pennington County DV and SA Task Forces and the West River Human Trafficking Task Force. The DVN was able to hire 2 new part time advocates. These advocates have been very active in meeting with other support services, faith-based organizations, medical clinics and hospitals, law enforcement agencies, states attorneys, and business leaders. These individuals have gone out daily to reach and find support for victims of DV and SA.

Please describe any notable activities at the grantee level during the reporting period that improved delivery of victim services.

Responses from our subgrantees - WAVI provides anonymous surveys to clients both in and out of shelter, as well as to students whom we give informational presentations. WAVI Leadership staff review these survey results and answers, and make changes and improvements when possible and necessary. WAVI strives to provide continuing and updated education to staff in order to improve delivery of victim services. The 2 new advocates have been very active at meeting individuals from all professional areas to advocate and share information about services and the needs within the community. Once school starts, the advocates will become very active at developing stronger relationships with school personnel throughout Lake and Miner counties to reach more individuals in need of services.

Please discuss each priority (i.e., child abuse, domestic assault, sexual assault, and underserved) in which VOCA funds have been used to assist crime victims during the reporting period

Child abuse - The State of South Dakota funds several CASA agencies throughout the state who provide advocacy for children who have been abused as well as child advocacy centers that provide forensic interviews of child abuse cases. Domestic Assault - Our department funds several domestic violence shelters throughout the state. These shelters provide services to domestic assault victims in their service area. Sexual Assault - Our department funds a rape crisis center that provides services to sexual assault victims. They provide advocacy services to victims during their rape exam, as well as follow up advocacy and counseling sessions. Underserved - Our department funds an agency that assists victims with limited english as well as many service providers on or near reservations. These agencies provide a wide range of services to native american victims.

Please briefly describe efforts taken to serve Victims of Federal crime during the reporting period.

Our subgrantee agencies partner with FBI and BIA Victims' Advocates to provide comprehensive services. They maintain open lines of communication with them as well as with the US Attorney's office.

Please identify any emerging issues or notable trends affecting crime victim services in your state during the reporting period.

Responses from our subgrantees - A notable trend we are seeing, on a smaller scale, is hearing from past sexual assault survivors. They are reporting the national attention has been a trigger for them. Overall we have also see a sense of frustration, anger, fear etc. DV and SA victims that DVN serves are experiencing more violent threats of abuse. It seems that there have been more instances that have involved guns, and knives, strangulations and stalking. Perpetrators seem less worried about the consequences of their actions and seem to believe they have a right to abuse their partner and there are no consequences for their actions. DVN staff has witnessed an increase in stalking and provocation of victims even after a protection order is in place. One of the most difficult trends and changes affecting victims' services is the continued restriction and removal of federal and state funding, as well as from the private sector. Additional reporting requirements are also cumbersome and time-consuming, which takes staff time away from direct client services.

Please briefly outline any staffing retention issues that your victim assistance program has and why these issues may occur during the reporting period.

Shelter programs and local nonprofits often have a hard time competing with the local job market, therefore staff turnover can be common in our state.

Please explain your state process to publicize its victim assistance funding for services to victims of crime during the reporting period.

South Dakota Victims' Services send an announcement to all current subgrantees when a new grant solicitation is available. Announcements are also sent to the two coalitions in the state and any agency that has made an inquiry in the previous year. We keep a log of individuals or entities that have requested information on our program throughout the year. The grant announcement is also placed on the Victims' Services portion of the DPS website. We also host a pre-solicitation webinar to give an explanation of the funding announcement.

Please explain how your state is able to direct funding to new/underserved populations during the reporting period.

Our state provides funding to many agencies on or near reservations. Native Americans are often victimized at a higher rate than other victims. By providing funding to the agencies near the reservations, we are able to assist the Native American victims in those areas.

Please explain how your program is able to respond to gaps in services during the reporting period.

South Dakota Victims' Services maintains a listing of shelter agencies on our website that is available for anyone to view. We also have several subgrantees throughout our state that stay connected to one another through the Coalition and SD Network memberships. These agencies as part of their membership participate in trainings and quarterly meetings to stay ahead of trends that other agencies may be seeing.

Please list and explain any outcome measure(s) that are reported to the governor, legislature, or other state entity during the reporting period.

There were no outcome measures reported to the governor, legislature, or other state entity during the reporting period.
