Describe any planning or training events held during the reporting period.

The Division worked with members of the Human Trafficking Task Force to providing training to law enforcement officers. The task force provides this training, upon request, to any law enforcement agency in the State.

Describe any program policies changed during the reporting period.

The Division of Victim Services (Division) made several policy changes during the reporting period that have a direct impact on VOCA funds. First, the Division updated our annual risk assessment for subgrantees. During the previous year the Division recognized areas in which the previous version of the risk assessment failed to adequately measure areas we feel are important to assessing a programs level of risk. Changes were made to fill these gaps. Second, in order to align our reimbursement practices with the DOJ Grants Financial Guide, the Division made the policy decision to no longer reimburse for tips. Third, the Division established more stringent standards on the use of volunteer hours as in-kind match for VOCA funds. Volunteer on-call time is capped at 25% of a subgrantee's total VOCA match obligation and is earned at a 1:4 ratio with an hourly rate capped at $21.10. Volunteers providing direct services can earn up to $21.10 per hour at a 1:1 ratio with no limit to the percentage of the subgrantee's match obligation that can be met. Finally, the Division revised internal policies to more closely track subgrantee compliance with registration requirements for the System for Award Management.

Describe any earned media coverage events/episodes during the reporting period.

There were press releases done for proclamation signings by Governor Mead, including Crime Victim's Rights Week, Domestic Violence Awareness Month, Sexual Assault Awareness Month, and Stalking Awareness Month.

Describe any coordinated responses/services for assisting crime victims during the reporting period.

The Division continues to lead the Human Trafficking Task Force, a statewide organization consisting of many federal, state, and local agencies including: FBI, US Attorney's Office, Wyoming Highway Patrol, local law enforcement, various victim service providers, SANE programs, etc. The task force continues to lead Wyoming efforts to bring awareness to the public around human trafficking and to provide training to law enforcement, victim service providers, and other professionals throughout Wyoming. The Division began a collaborative effort with the Wyoming Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault (WCADVSA) to provide SANE training both for adults and pediatrics in the State. The Division previously provided this training, however, the WCADVSA has been doing a lot of work around the state to enhance the presence of SANE programs across Wyoming, therefore it made more sense to house the training program with the WCADVSA. The Division continues to fund this vital training so that nurses can be trained with little out of pocket expenses.

Please discuss the major issues in your state that either assist or prevent victims from receiving assistance during the reporting period.

There are two primary issues that have historically prevented victims from receiving assistance. First, is the lack of services on the Wind River Reservation. Second is the lack of affordable housing. The Wind River Reservation which is home to the Eastern Shoshone and Northern Arapaho tribes has not had any dedicated, culturally specific, services in many years. The population was partially served by the DVSA program in a neighboring community which has done a wonderful job, but the services were not culturally specific and services on the Wind River Reservation were limited. Fortunately the Native Women's Society of the Great Plains applied for and was approved for funding for the SFY 2019 and 2020 funding cycle. The proposed project will open two offices on the Wind River Reservation, the offices will be culturally specific to the Eastern Shoshone and Northern Arapaho respectively, the service area of the combined program will be the Wind River Reservation. Once this program is up and running it will greatly enhance the serves to one of Wyoming's largest underserved populations. The lack of affordable housing continues to be an issues for many victims, especially for those who are trying to leave an abusive situation. The WCADVSA is able to use transitional housing funds from OVW to meet this need, however, the funds are insufficient. The WCADVSA applied for funding from the Division for the SFY 2019 and 2020 funding cycle that would have greatly enhanced their transitional housing project, however, they pulled out due to a shortage in the Division's available funding.

Please describe ways that your agency promoted the coordination of public and private efforts within the community to help crime victims during the reporting period.

First and foremost, the Division promotes the coordination of public and private efforts within our communities through our grant funds. All recipients of Division funds, weather the source of their funds are from the state for from the Federal Government, are required to collaborate with, at minimum, the victim service providers in their service area. Funded programs are also encouraged to collaborate with other agencies in their communities that work with much of the same population. Division staff attend community events, as time allows, to meet with key stakeholders about ways to improve access to services and increase partnerships. The work being done by the collaborative effort between the Division and the WCADVSA to enhance SANE training across the state is an example of the collaborations that exist between the public and private sectors in Wyoming.

Please describe any notable activities at the grantee level during the reporting period that improved delivery of victim services.

The Division continues to enhance the education of service providers, law enforcement, attorneys, and other stakeholders through our two primary training events every year. The Wyoming Joint Symposium on Children and Youth is a joint venture with the Wyoming Supreme Court, Children's Justice Project, and the Division. The Symposium provides opportunities for the field to learn about crimes against children and best practices in children's justice services, and advocating for children in the victim services field. The Division helps support the Wyoming Conference on Violence Prevention and Response, a project of the WCADVSA. The conference provides an opportunity for advocates to learn about prevention activities and best practices in victim advocacy. These two events enhance the ability of victim service providers and other stakeholders in Wyoming to deliver services to victims of crime. The Division has also increased our efforts to ensure subgrantees are utilizing sound fiscal management practices. These efforts include the limitations imposed on using volunteer on-call time to meet VOCA match requirements and an increased level of scrutiny over monthly reimbursement requests. The Division believes that better fiscal management at both the state level and with individual subgrantees will lead to more effective and efficient use of grant funds. One of the best ways to enhance services to victims without a corresponding increase in costs is to increase the use of volunteers. To this end, the Division has not only worked to ensure programs are meeting their VOCA volunteer requirement, but also to incentivize the use of volunteers. At the same time, subgrantees were struggling to meet the match requirement for significantly larger VOCA awards. Rather than seeking match waivers the Division decided to use direct service volunteers as a potential source of match, the more a subgrantee was able to use volunteers to provide direct services to victims, the less they would need to rely on fundraising and other sources of funding to meet their match requirement.

Please discuss each priority (i.e., child abuse, domestic assault, sexual assault, and underserved) in which VOCA funds have been used to assist crime victims during the reporting period

Child Abuse: The Division uses VOCA funds to support three child advocacy centers (CAC's) and five Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) programs throughout Wyoming. The three CAC's which are located in Laramie County, Natrona County, and Teton County provide child forensic interviews and other services that focus on the wellbeing of children who are victims of, or witness to crime. CASA programs provide specially trained advocates that are assigned to a child who has a case or is involved in a case that is going through the legal system. The advocates ensure the child has a voice in the court process and that the child's needs are met. CAC's and CASA programs represent the greatest concentration and focus on children among Wyoming's victim service providers, however, all providers are able to provide services to children as part of their advocacy services. Domestic Assault: The Division now has 24 domestic violence and sexual assault programs, one in each county and one on the Wind River Reservation. Each of these non-profit, non-governmental organizations provide a range of advocacy services to victims of domestic violence up to and including shelter and transitional housing. Subgrantees in law enforcement agencies provide crisis services and referrals to domestic violence survivors following a report to law enforcement through any investigation. Subgrantees in prosecutor's offices are providing criminal justice advocacy and services to victims of domestic violence whose cases are progressing through the court system. Sexual Assault: In addition to the services provided to victims of Domestic Violence; victims of sexual assault are eligible for all of the same services. The Division funds 3 of the SANE programs in Wyoming using VOCA funds. SANE programs are using VOCA Assistance funds to fund salaries and specialized training for nurses. Additionally, two of the programs are using VOCA funds to conduct outreach and education with other hospitals across the state in order to enhance the presence of SANE programs in Wyoming. The Division also funds in-state SANE training for both adults and pediatrics, the training is organized by the WCADVSA. VOCA funds are not used for this training. Although not dedicated solely to sexual assault, the Division used VOCA administrative funds to provide training to law enforcement officers on the dynamics of human trafficking. Underserved: The Division recognizes several underserved populations in Wyoming, these include: Native American, elderly, LGBTQ, Hispanic/Latino, LEP, and rural/frontier. During this reporting period the Division primarily focused on the Native American population living on the Wind River Reservation. As discussed previously, the Division funded a project for the next two years that will, once operational, provide culturally specific services to both the Eastern Shoshone and Northern Arapaho tribes on the Wind River Reservation.

Please briefly describe efforts taken to serve Victims of Federal crime during the reporting period.

Teton County Victim Services (TCVS) is located just south of Grand Teton and Yellowstone National Parks and is surrounded by wilderness and national forests. TCVS thus encounters federal crime victims. TCVS advocates respond to any request for aid or service made from a federal law enforcement agency. TCVS typically provides crisis intervention, emergency assistance, and assistance with crime victim's compensation program applications. When a crime is committed on federal land such as in Yellowstone, Crisis Intervention Services (CIS) advocates will respond to the scene and transport victims back to CIS shelter/motels as appropriate. Fremont County Alliance, and soon, the Native Women's Society of the Great Plains will work with victims on the Wind River Reservation, they will work with the victim services staff at the US Attorney's office to coordinate services.

Please identify any emerging issues or notable trends affecting crime victim services in your state during the reporting period.

During the past legislative session, Wyoming legislators worked to enhance the protection afforded to victims by Wyoming law. First, the length of time a protection order can remain in effect was increased. Second, the legislature enhanced penalties for stalking, strangulation, and domestic violence.

Please briefly outline any staffing retention issues that your victim assistance program has and why these issues may occur during the reporting period.

The victim assistance program did not have any staffing or retention issues during the reporting period.

Please explain your state process to publicize its victim assistance funding for services to victims of crime during the reporting period.

Public notice was published in the Casper Star Tribune, considered the state-wide newspaper, advertising the request for proposals (RFP). An e-mail was sent to existing service providers advertising the RFP. The WCADVSA was notified and provided a link to the RFP. Notice of the RFP was given at the Division's annual mandatory meeting for subrecipients. The Division operates on a two year funding cycle, subgrantees apply for funding once during that cycle. The Division is currently in the SFY2019 and 2020 cycle, programs last applied for funding in February, 2018. The Next RFP will be released in February 2020.

Please explain how your state is able to direct funding to new/underserved populations during the reporting period.

As previously discussed the Division has funded a new DVSA program on the Wind River Reservation, filling a significant gap in services and meeting the needs of one of our largest underserved populations.

Please explain how your program is able to respond to gaps in services during the reporting period.

Throughout the reporting period the Division has been working on services on the Wind River Reservation as well as the availability of civil legal services. The pilot project with the Wyoming Supreme Court, Equal Justice Wyoming (EJW) project went well, civil legal services to victim of crime expanded across the state during the pilot. The project applied for and was awarded competitive grant funds for the current biannual funding cycle, the grant will allow EJW to continue to expand their services reaching more victims in need of civil legal services. Moving forward the Division recognizes continuing gaps as being affordable housing and mental health services. Affordable housing was previously discussed. Victims presenting with mental health concerns can be a struggle for many of our subgrantees, especially for our DVSA programs offering shelter services. In many of Wyoming's rural communities, access to mental health services is limited and waiting lists for government subsidized services can be lengthy. Often shelter programs are trying to meet the needs of victims without a clear understanding of their mental health needs and how those needs will affect their ability to cope with their victimization.

Please list and explain any outcome measure(s) that are reported to the governor, legislature, or other state entity during the reporting period.

Each year, the Division issues a performance report to the Governor and the Attorney General showing victimization rates, services provided to crime victims, and crime types as reported by victim service providers.
