NARRATIVE QUESTIONS

1. Please explain any significant change in the number of applications received during the reporting period.
 The Bureau of Victim Compensation received 13,723 compensation claims and 5,718 sexual battery forensic examination claims during FFY 2019-20, which is 17.48% less than the prior year. This significant decrease was a direct result of the COVID-19 crisis which severely affected access normally available to innocent crime victims. Victims were unable to seek services from victim service organizations in their communities due to temporarily suspended operations, reduced open office hours, scheduled appointments instead of walk-in business, and various layers of protection to foster safe operations. Coupled by the fact that some victims may not have been able to leave their homes for fear of contracting or exposing others to COVID-19, fewer referrals were made for victims to apply for compensation benefits. This negative impact was not only evident in the number of applications received, but also in the number of claims denied for Ineligible Application. Claims received without supporting documentation or from ineligible claimants increased by 114.53%, since presumably victims could not access local resources to collect applicable referrals and documentation.
2. The average length of time to process an application for claim eligibility for compensation
 Count days from time of receipt of application to decision. 23

 Please explain your state's procedure for processing an application for claim eligibility, from time of receipt of application to decision. The process is initiated when a Victim Compensation Claim Form is submitted to the Bureau of Victim Compensation. The form is data entered into the system used to manage compensation claims, assigned a number, and reviewed by a trained claims analyst to determine if the eligibility criterion pursuant to law is met. If the form is not accompanied by acceptable documentation to substantiate the request for compensation, correspondences are generated to seek said documents. If the claim is determined eligible, compensable expenses submitted with the application are addressed, and/or the victim/applicant is notified to submit compensable expenses for payment consideration.
3. Does your state have a victim satisfaction survey?
 No
4. Please describe any emerging/major issues or notable trends that were encountered in your state that had an impact on your program's ability to meet the needs of crime victims during the reporting period.
 The Bureau of Victim Compensation paid $12,360,648 during FFY 2019-20, which is 36.05% less than the prior year. Over the past few years, benefits payable from the Crimes Compensation Trust Fund (CCTF) have increased numerous times by both legislative action and improved outreach, but without any corresponding increase in funding. Trending decriminalization and criminal justice reform rendered fewer collections from fines, fees, and restitution. On September 1, 2019, the CCTF reached a critical low point and payment limitations were reduced retroactively by 30-50% for most benefits. Despite an infusion of general revenue, a focused campaign to enforce collections, freezing position vacancies, downsizing staff and cutting benefits, the ability to process payments to victims significantly diminished. Without the anticipated draw-down from the federal grant, the CCTF will be at a deficit and no longer have sufficient funds to pay claims.
5. Please describe in detail efforts taken to serve Victims of Federal Crime during the reporting period.
 The Bureau of Victim Compensation continues to maintain excellent rapport with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, U.S. Attorney's Offices, and advocates affiliated with different branches of the armed forces by attending meetings, offering presentations, facilitating training, and working collaboratively in response to mass shootings deemed federal jurisdiction. The department also responded to requests for information from the International Terrorism Victim Expense Reimbursement Program (ITVERP) to ensure there was no overlap in compensation.
6. Please describe any notable activities during the reporting period that improved the process of victim compensation services.
 The Bureau of Victim Compensation suffered no interruption in operations directly resulting from the COVID-19 crisis. The department maintained the resemblance of normalcy from the onset of the global health pandemic by quickly redirecting resources to achieve a complete work-from-home platform. The department also engaged in discussions and collaborated with victim service organizations to foster practical solutions to various challenges. One example was to obtain a legal opinion to accept electronic signatures when victims could not otherwise sign documents in person.
7. Please describe in detail ways in which your state used VOCA Administrative funds and the impact of these funds on the state's ability to improve victim compensation services during the reporting period.
 The Bureau of Victim Compensation did not use federal Victim of Crime Act (VOCA) funds for administrative purposes during this reporting period. All administrative costs were paid using funds acquired through the state's Crime Compensation Trust Fund.
8. Were there any laws, initiatives, or policy changes in your state regarding victim compensation during the reporting period? If yes, please briefly describe them and their impact.

The fiscal status of the Crimes Compensation Trust Fund (CCTF) caused the Bureau of Victim Compensation to considerably reduce benefits for innocent victims of violent crimes on September 1, 2019. During this reporting period, considerable effort was taken to establish improvements that would increase sustainability and long-term solvency. Proposals made to the Office for Victims of Crime described ways in which federal Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) funds could be leveraged for allowable costs thus allowing the CCTF to recover. Regrettably, Florida's Legislature denied the request to expend any additional VOCA funds postponing their review until the next session convenes.

9. Please describe system-coordination efforts with prosecutors, law enforcement, courts, U.S. attorneys' offices, tribal systems, State VOCA Victim Assistance Coordinator, or other key personnel within the criminal justice system in your state to reduce barriers to victims who may apply to receive victim compensation.

The Bureau of Victim Compensation continued its partnership with victim service organizations, sexual assault response teams, children's advocacy programs, numerous state agencies, faith-based community representatives, and local law enforcement agencies to provide support and assistance with filing victim compensation claims.

10. Please explain any public outreach efforts to improve awareness of your program.

Public outreach is completed by offering continued education to victim advocates, service providers, law enforcement support staff, and community partners who engage victims of crime. The Bureau of Victim Compensation deployed a dedicated trainer to facilitate compensation discussions at both Victim Services Practitioner Designation Training, and Enhancing Victim Services Through Victim Compensation Training, which are offered multiple times throughout the state each year. The department also continued to publish posters offered in English, Spanish, and Creole, and brochures which were distributed at trainings and to Victim of Crime Act funded partners, as well as making them available to the public on our webpages at www.MyFloridaLegal.com and <https://VANext.MyFloridaLegal.com>.

11. Please list any other outcome measure(s) that are reported to the governor, legislature, or other state entity that have not been reported in this submission. Provide the actual measure(s). The data may be reported separately in your progress report.

All Division of Victim Services and Criminal Justice Program departments, which includes the Bureau of Victim Compensation, file an Annual Report with the Governor and Legislature. That report provides an overview of activities and includes the total number of claims received, amounts paid, and calls resolved. It also includes the total amount received from all state funding sources including surcharges, court costs, fines, restitution and subrogation activities, and compares those amounts with the totals paid by each judicial circuit. To access a copy of the report, visit MyFloridaLegal.com, About the Office, Victims Advocacy, and select Crime Victims Services Resources.

12. Please provide any additional comments that are helpful to improving the Victim Compensation state and/or federal program.

Many states including Florida, have announced budget shortfalls due to diminished collections at statewide levels. The Office for Victims of Crime has heard multiple requests by the Compensation Advisory Committee to evaluate and initiate revisions to the federal regulations as it pertains to the grant formula. Revisions to the rules could provide greater capacity for state compensation programs to administer awards directly to crime victims. A singular increase to the percentage, allocations based on population, along with removing the deduction penalty for restitution would be welcomed changes.
